NICHOLASVILLE, KY., Aug. 7, '99.
A. T. Chenuault, Esq., Richmond, Ky.

DEAR SIR:—I have read with great interest the Genealogical Memoranda of the Quisenberry family including the Chenuault and other pioneer families that settled in Kentucky from 1783 to 1790, and as late as 1803. By your nephew, Anderson Chenuault Quisenberry, of Washington, D. C. Every descendant of the early pioneer settlers of Madison and Clark county, who have descended from the Quisenberrys and Chenuaults ought to have a copy of such an interesting history, which gives in detail the descent and origin of the various family connections of the Quisenberrys and Chenuaults. Many of the families mentioned in the work are the descendants of those persecuted French protestants, who fled from the South of France during the reign of Louis XIV. It has been estimated by Dr. Francis L. Hawks that fifty thousand French Huguenots settled in the American Colonies during the first ten years of the reign of Louis XIV. In 1715 he died after a bloody reign of 70 years. In 1707 Lechasseur his confessor persuaded the King to believe that God would prolong his life if he would issue another order for hunting to death every protestant family connected with the wine and salt trade of the South of France. In Brouges and Orléans a dozen protestant families had the monopoly of the trade in wine and salt. The wealth of Alençon passed through their hands, and in the city of Rouen, they carried on an immense commerce, especially with the Dutch. Those of Caen sold to the English and Dutch merchants, the linen and woollen cloths manufactured in Normandy. It can be shown from history, that to the protestants France owes her commerce at Bordeaux, La Rochelle, and the Normans. In fact, nearly all the silk, cotton, linen and paper manufacturers were supported by them, and their tanneries at Toulouse were throughout the whole of Europe. This magnificent prosperity, near the close of the reign of Louis was annihilated by the Lechasseur, the Jesuit confession, who persuaded the King to believe that he was doing God a great service in putting to a cruel death every heretic in the South and West of France, England, Holland, Germany and the American Colonies all received the dying Huguenots, the maimed banks of the James river, in Virginia, were by these French refugees transformed into fields covered with rich harvest. All Virginia admired the flourishing state of their model farms in the environs of Marquette. In the State of New York, the founders of New Rochelle, recited from no fatigue that might render productive the virgin land on the shores of the East river. Men, women and children incessantly labored until they covered a wilderness in a sullying landscape, and in South Carolina they reared magnificent plantations on the banks of the Cooper. The agricultural colony on the banks of the Santee surpassed all others in the same province, although the refugees were accustomed to such labor. The revocation of the Edict of Nantes and other persecutions that were afterwards waged against the protestants of France, had their reaction in the fearful atrocities of the French Revolution of 1789. In conclusion I will state that among the descendants of the Huguenots in Kentucky are the Hardins, the Januars, the Brockets, Deshous, Dejarnets, the Guignarts, Chenuaults, the Salles and Brounghs, who settled with the La Fontaines and Maury, near Fredericksburg, Va., in 1719. John Peter Salius was the founder of the American branch of his descendants live in Jessamine county, near Keene. No country has had better citizens in it than the Huguenots and their descendants. The instances are rare indeed, in which one of that stock has been charged with crime before the tribunals of the country. Many hundreds of them are among the greatest and wortest of our country, some are great theologians, orators, judges, governors, generals and admirals, greater patriots never lived or died in defense of civil and religious liberty than the Huguenots. Truly a strong Dillard Huguenot about the only book you loaned me. He has not answered my letter.

has a two-page article in the Baptist School Convention at Speedwell on the 12th inst., showing that in spite of storms and threats of storms, the gathering was one of the most successful in the county's history. The President and Secretary, L. V. Dodge and W. F.
Baumhart, had put forth special efforts to make a good show, the former having visited various parts of the county in encouraging attendance, the latter having secured a good exhibit of horses and cattle.—Lexington Leader.

Mr. Z. T. Rice will leave Thursday he will purchase a handsome stock of ings etc.

Our esteemed bolting friends have made two awful blunders, in naming another ticket, which they will do to-day at Lexington, and in threatening to knife Bryan in the next national convention if he comes to help him.
They seem to have lost all sense of modesty. Yet they say to him, that unless he should show himself to be a political trumper and a poltroon, they

The Owenton Herald, speaking of the "Police Convention," wisely says:
"The police are very much like the flowers that bloom in the spring—they have their time to do with the case. It is now. Democats have done their best, hand or the Republican ticket on the other, there is no middle ground, which will

In so doing they have made a sorry spectacle of themselves, and given Mr. Bryan the opportunity to show the stuff of which he is made, for he has again declared he will come to the State to help Goebel. The incident is a distinct loss to the latter and a distinct gain for Mr. Bryan, with all men who love to see a man, more especially a politician, with the courage of his convictions.

In September the greatest of Democrats, Bryan will come to Kentucky for a week or more, to speak in behalf of the regular State ticket, stopping in Richmond for a day, as per his promise to Gov. McCleary and Hon. W. B.
Smith. He will be whirled about the State in a special train, making three or more speeches a day, and going into every Congressional district. Great enthusiasm will be given at different points for the accommodation of the multitudes that will assemble here. Bryan will be followed by the editor of the Daily Commonwealth, Bailey, of Frankfort, who is second only to Bryan in popularity.

Editor Walrus is back in the saddle after a trip to the Thousand Islands and hundred other places in the North.
His comparison of Lake Erie to raging St. Joseph creek in St. Louis is apropos, but Commodore Perry sent no messages to President Harrison in 1813, according to the arithmetic we studied.

Ex-Governor James B. McCleary is a dyed-in-the-wool Democrat and is always at his party's service. He will, like Congressman Settle, in addition to attending to his duties as a member of the Campaign Committee, make a number of speeches for the ticket, beginning at Williamsburg Monday, Aug. 14.—Owenton Herald.

What is true of Madison is true of other counties; the bolting movement is headed by back numbers who have no other way to win the title of "prominent political" without helping a forlorn hope. And these back numbers in turn are being led by a railroad corporation abetted by the Republican party.
Is that Democracy?

If the Brown convention to-day at Lexington should adopt a free silver resolution the Louisville Post and Columbus Journal, the L. & N. and a whole passle of the "leaders" will bolt again. This might necessitate another convention, and thus our bolting friends will be in the soup once more by reprinting it.

We will wager a button to a ginger cake they have not read Goebel's Mayfield speech delivered Saturday.

As the Brown bolters hereabouts rout nothing but anti-Democratic newspapers, they should open their eyes to the position of the newspapers in his own section of Western Kentucky.
Mr. Brown in all his life has not had any more loyal or faithful friends and admirers than Leigh of the Pathetic News, Meacham of the Hopkinsville Kentucky, Baker of the Madisonville Standard, Givens of the Madisonville Illustrator, Haas of the Henderson Tribune, and Berry of the Uniontown Telegraph.
But they can not follow him out of the Democratic party, and in terms of ex-trete regret they bid him goodbye. All in Kentucky not a Democratic editor, whether his personal relations have been intimate or otherwise with the distinguished ex-governor, has been drawn into the revolt by his action.

Gov. McCleary spoke at Williamsburg, Grant county, on Monday. He met Judge Gridstein in joint debate and the Examiner says our fellow citizen eviscerated the Judge. Concluding a long article the Examiner says:

"In McCleary's last speech he safely skinned Green alive." He refused any argument he had made, and at its close took a vote as to whether Green had bolted or ought to resign.
Nearly every man in the house voted green. Only one man voted no, and he was a Republican.

He never before deserved the title of "little" George Matt Adams, that one constant officer-holder deserves it now, having applied for the title in 1890 when he balked and worked against Wood Lounguere and now is working against Goebel. There are other such Democrats (?) who own all they are to that party which they habitually try to ruin whenever they cannot rule it.
Little Matt fought the Confederate soldiers in war and peace, and John Stanford's Confederate friends will not look to Mr. Adams for counsel or leadership.

Mr. Wm. Goebel formally opened the campaign at Mayfield on Monday in the presence of 6,000 people. Mr.
Goebel covered the whole field of political controversy in a courageous, convincing manner and reassured his hearers that the banner of Democracy had been placed in the hands of a brave and brainy standard-bearer. His speech is the whole Democratic catechism for 1892, and leaves nothing unanswered except Gov. Brown and his bolting crew for whom he had words of neither praise nor scorn. If those will now read Goebel's speech and hear his side of the controversy they will be fair to themselves, to their party, and to their State.

Gov. Brown has not yet denied the serious impeachment that he did. Hon.
Frank P. of La Grange, soon after the Louisville convention that he would support the Goebel ticket by vote and voice. His change of heart, therefore, would seem to indicate a very human weakness for power, as we understand the Republicans will smile when he sulks and worked against Wood Lounguere and now is working against Goebel. The election of another Democrat, however, will be a distinct loss to the party.

Mr. Leonard W. Doolan, C. U. '95,
and threats of storms, the gathering
Secretary, L. V. Dodge and W. F.
secured a good exhibit of horses and cattle.—Lexington Leader.

Mr. Z. T. Rice will leave Thursday for Philadelphia and New York, where he will purchase a handsome stock of

ings etc.

convention if he comes to help him.
They seem to have lost all sense of

will knife him. In so doing they have made a sorry spectacle of themselves,
of his convictions.
